“ LEARN ABOUT FLIES ”

Flies find their food by using their superior sense of smell, as they follow the stench of rotten organic materials usually located in confined places; like garbage bins. Once flies find and feed on these rotten materials, their sense of smell becomes inefficient to find a way out due to the strong stench. They instead follow the light coming in from cracks and small openings to escape.

fly free trap is designed to use this exact behavior to control flies. The traps are loaded with an organic and very efficient lure that attracts flies inside. While, the ingenious design of the trap blocks any light from leaking in, preventing flies from escaping and keeping them inside until they die without using any pesticides.

Flies are not only bothersome as most people think; in fact, they also pose a great threat to humans and cattle equally. The presence of flies around food processing establishments, such as plants, restaurants and slaughterhouses, risks the safety of the produced foods, as flies transmit the bacteria and germs they carry from garbage bins, cadavers, manure, and sewage to the food, causing food poisoning to consumers. Also, flies threaten the health of cattle as they are attracted to wounds and scratch on the animals. They feed on the exposed flesh and lay their eggs inside, while transmitting dangerous bacteria to the blood stream of the wounded animals. This causes severe infections to the animals, and eventually killing them; especially small animals and newly born ones.
